

Dear Colleague,

It is our great pleasure to send you the 2nd announcement of the 7th International Conference

“Aegean Analytical Chemistry Days” (AACD 2010)

29 September - 03 October 2010, Lesvos, Greece

Since 1998, the AACD conferences have provided an excellent framework for the presentation of new trends and developments in analytical chemistry, as well as new applications of environmental, food and industrial analysis, with a special emphasis to quality aspects. At the same time, the AACD conferences have promoted the presentation of young scientists' research and the exchange of ideas, encouraging thus collaborations and joint research projects. The 7th Aegean Analytical Chemistry Days (AACD2010) will be organized in the Gulf of Gera, Lesvos, a place of outstanding natural beauty.

The scientific program will be focused on:

- Atomic and Molecular Spectrometry
- Mass Spectrometry
- Bioanalytical and Clinical Analysis
- Chromatography and Separation Techniques
- Electroanalytical Methods and Biosensors
- Speciation Analysis
- Sample Preparation
- Chemometrics
- Quality control / Quality assurance and Chemical Metrology
- Environmental Analysis
- Food Analysis
- Pharmaceutical Analysis

On the opening ceremony, a tribute to Professors Emeriti Freddy Adams and Alan Townshend will be organized and they will offer us two excellent Opening Honorary Lectures.

Moreover, thirteen internationally recognized invited speakers will give lectures on the corresponding fields. Please, visit the web pages of the conference for a detailed list of the invited speakers and the titles of their lectures.

Emphasis will also be given to thematic poster presentations and young scientists' contributions. Poster awards are foreseen.

ANALYTICAL LETTERS, the internationally recognized journal for the rapid publication of original research papers, will produce a special issue for the AACD 2010 conference. More information about the submission procedure can be found here:
http://www.chem.uoa.gr/AACD2010/AACD17_official_journal.htm

An exciting social programme is also scheduled and a number of events are organized: visit to an Olive Press Museum, dinner at a famous fish tavern by the seaside, visit to the capital of Lesvos, Mytilene and its famous museums and the Gala Dinner. Please visit the web pages of the conference for detailed information about the social events during the conference.

Please, visit regularly the website of the conference at:

www.chem.uoa.gr/aacd2010

and proceed with submission of abstracts, registration and hotel reservation and do not miss the opportunity for active participation at this exceptional event.

We would like to remind you that the early registration (16th July 2010) and submission deadlines (15th June 2010 for oral presentations) of the AACD 2010 are approaching!
